

3- Hakan RENÇBER

In this paper, I basically fabricated a person named Ayşe who is living in poor conditions and tried to convey all the personal traits of the Summoner through the letter he wrote to her. Since it is told that the Summoner is good at language skills, I peppered the letter with a poem to make it more vivid.

A Letter from the Summoner

Salute you Ayşe, me in a great despair
Since you had a dreadful and irreversible affair
I was told you commit a sin to be chastised
Yet writing this to let you be advised

I believe you would rejoice if you hear I have an offer for you to save you from excommunication. I have no evil intention by saying this. However, cannot hide my discontent with the church for I know they are all corrupt. Believe me when I say this since my morality is much more reliable than my malformed face. They speak of me as a drunkard, yet I have a quite delicate language. I would like to offer you that if you give me all your savings as a reward for my goodwill, I will make sure that the church leaves you and your lovely daughter alone. I know you are in an economic downturn especially after losing your leg due to the evil disease which made you unable to work. However, this should be my best offer to you, considering one should not be burned by being excommunicated nowadays. Ego rogabo* do not think of me as a malicious person. After all, nobody does good for nothing, right?

Pass my love and admiration
To you daughter with a face debonair
Let them tell me lecherous and evil
For I believe all my deeds are quite fair

-The Summoner

---

* Latin phrase for I beg